FARMERS FEEL AGGRIEVED

Elections Will Test Whether
Bob Is Entitled to Label
"Progressive"

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Portland, Ore.—This is in many respects the home of Progressivism. The initiative and referendum and the primary and other measures of reform had their first cordial welcome here. So Oregon may be regarded as a good place in which to test out whether Senator LaFollette is entitled to the label "Progressive" in the viewpoint of the voter.

First of all it should be recalled that LaFollette was a close second here to Roosevelt in the primary days of 1912. But it cannot be said that the same type of Republicans who fought for Roosevelt then are today supporting LaFollette.

In the contest between President Coolidge and Hiram Johnson this year the voters of Oregon registered their preference for Mr. Coolidge by three to one. Nothing has happened since the primaries to make so large a body of voters turn from the president. The only question here is whether the discontented vote has grown.

Undoubtedly there is some dissatisfaction here over the president's unwillingness to come out flatly for the McNary-Haugen bill last spring and there are farmers who still feel aggrieved because the federal government instituted no relief measures, to boost the price of certain farm products. But this dissatisfaction is not so widespread as to endanger the chances of Republican success.

RADICALS ALOFT STRONG

The LaFollette vote in Oregon was large. It may even exceed the Davis vote. But it is not coming from the so-called independent or progressive voters. It is coming from the people who vote against particular candidates rather than for others. There are groups of course, who will vote for LaFollette because of his radical views, groups who will support him for his friendliness to the railway employees, and groups of Germans who think the Wisconsin senator stood by them in the period of alleged hysteria over the war. But the independent voter who considers himself hardly a partisan will for the most part stick to the two major parties and the vast number who will vote for Davis or Coolidge would be progressive.

There are no local issues in this state to confuse the issue. Its a straight out presidential contest. The regular Republicans appear to be well financed and their organization is beginning to function. The Democrats are making polls and canvasses and they deny that any considerable number of their voters are going to LaFollette. But the evidence would appear to indicate the LaFollette movement will draw a large percentage from the Democratic vote. The Republican vote is so heavy however, that the Third Party would have to draw almost 40 per cent of the vote from the Republicans before it could be a serious contender for the electoral vote.

While many things may happen between now and election day, it would appear that Davis will from now on recover some of the Democratic votes which have been stated to go to LaFollette and that President Coolidge will be the beneficiary thereof. On present indications the president may be expected to carry Oregon by a plurality of at least ten to fifteen thousand. This in itself is an indication that the race is close, for if the contest were between Coolidge and Davis alone one would feel reasonably sure of at least 30,000 for Coolidge.

Fifteen Die
When Bandits
Derail Train

By Associated Press

Odessa—Fifteen persons were killed, 25 mortally injured and 43 seriously hurt Friday when the Moscow to Odessa express was derailed by bandits about 300 miles from Moscow.

Five women were among the 15 killed. The bandits disconnected the rails causing the locomotive and ten coaches and baggage cars to jump the track. With the entire train which was traveling at high speed was completely wrecked, the engineer, fireman and conductors being instantly killed. The rails were torn up for a distance of nearly 1,000 feet.

The injured were rushed to Moscow by a special train which had hastened to the scene. The bandits escaped. The wreck Friday was the second within less than a month caused on the line from Moscow to Odessa by the wanton destruction of the track. 40 passengers having been killed in an exactly similar disaster about 200 miles from Odessa, Aug. 28.

THREE OPPONENTSFaris Expresses Great Confidence in Ability of Prohibitionists to Win

St. Louis—Herman P. Faris, of Clinton, Mo., presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, stopped here Friday morning on his way east for a speaking campaign through Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and issued a statement expressing "great confidence" in the outcome of the November election.

Mrs. Faris declared he represented the only party "that has the absolute good will and wishes of more than half of the men voters in all the other parties."

The prohibition nominee said his party was making a strong appeal to the women of the country for the reason that it was the Prohibition party which originated, promulgated and advocated the women's suffrage for 45 years, before either of the dominant parties took up the issue.

He charged John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential candidate with side stepping the prohibition question and "going to the wets in the east" and declared "it is worse than folly to adopt a dry law and then select a wet nurse like Distiller Mellon to sustain it." Declaring that Senator LaFollette "has always had the support of the wet element in Wisconsin," Mr. Faris said, "it is not worth while to waste time telling people who would vote LaFollette and his gang would do were they to come into power."

Mr. Faris was scheduled to speak Friday afternoon at Brazil and Greenfield, Ind., and Friday night at Indianapolis.

RECEPTION IN
TWIN CITIES
CHEERS DAWESRepublican Vice Presidential Nominee Undaunted By
First Heckling

By Associated Press

Minneapolis—Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president, conferred with state leaders of his party and rested here Friday before turning northward on his three-day swing through Minnesota.

Leaving here shortly before noon, Mr. Dawes was due to reach Anoka and make near platform speech there at 12:10 P. M., and to arrive at 1:35 P. M., in St. Cloud where he will speak Friday night. The day as planned was the least strenuous of the Republican vice presidential nominee's Minnesota tour, and it was his purpose to obtain as much rest as possible after Thursday's vigorous campaigning and in preparation for his eleven speeches planned Saturday on his return trip from St. Cloud to Chicago.

Mr. Dawes, before leaving here declared himself much encouraged by the reception given his address Thursday night at the Minneapolis armory where he encountered the greatest crowd jam and first heckling that has marked his speaking campaign.

The heckling consisted of inquiries put to the nominee from the audience as to charges made by Senator Wheeler of Montana, independent candidate for vice president, in his St. Paul address Wednesday night, that Mr. Dawes was to be criticized for his connection with the Lorimer bank case, and also for specific instances of an attack on the federal constitution by Senator LaFollette.

The interruptions came near the end of Mr. Dawes' speech. He replied with reference to the Lorimer bank case attack that Minneapolis newspapers had characterized it as vitriolic whereas he added it was more like sulphurated hydrogen in that it left a disagreeable odor but no mark, as in the case of a vitriolic attack.

In addressing his inquirer as to specific instances of an attack by Mr. LaFollette on the constitution, Mr. Dawes read the lead to the last platform declaration in favor of congressional veto of supreme court decisions and added:

"You may not be able to understand that but"—cheers from the audience drowned out whatever else Mr. Dawes might have intended to say on that point. He previously had denounced this LaFollette platform declaration as "an assault on the constitution," which he said, Senator LaFollette had made in order to obtain Socialist support for his candidacy.

Flight Saturday According to Present Plan

By Associated Press

San Francisco—Lieuts. Lowell H. Smith, Eric H. Johnson and Leigh Wade, the three United States globe-trotting fliers who arrived here Thursday afternoon from Clover Field, Santa Monica, were resting Friday. With their mechanics, Lieutenants L. P. Arnold, John Harding and H. H. Ogden, the aviators planned to inspect their planes to see that all is in readiness for the next hop.

The fliers plan to leave San Francisco Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, the delay of 24 hours being occasioned by the forcing down of Lieutenant Wade's plane at South San Francisco due to a defective battery.

Eugene, Oregon, is the next and last official stop of the flight which will terminate in Seattle, Wash. The fliers will return here within a few days on their homeward journey.

Clover Field, Santa Monica, and at the time San Francisco plans a rousing celebration and the presentation of purse close to $5,000 to the aviators. Realizing that the flight is not yet completed, San Francisco will allow the fliers to rest Friday.

FOR HEARING ON
TELEPHONE RATESRate Commission Fixes Time for Taking Testimony on Rate Petition

Appleton's hearing on application of Wisconsin Telephone company to increase its rates will take place at 10 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 14 at the courthouse, according to notice issued by William M. Dinneen, secretary of the Wisconsin railroad commission, Madison.

Officials of the company will be asked to appear and tell the commission why the increase is desired and firms and individuals will have a chance at that time to voice their objections. The chamber of commerce has a committee which is making an investigation, and these men will be present at the hearing.

Increases are desired by the company for all local telephone service. Business telephones will command a monthly rate of $3.50 to $4.50 and residence will cost from $1.75 to $2.50. Switchboard service also is increased. It is argued by Wisconsin Telephone company that the Appleton plant is not receiving enough revenue to bring a fair return on the investment or enough for the replacements and expansions warranted by the growth of patronage here.

Rock Island, Ill.—William Chatterton, 15, Friday confessed to the wrecking of the Golden State limited on the Rock Island lines at Fairport, Ia., at 11:55 Thursday night, causing derailment of two sleepers and injuring a number of passengers. The boy removed bolts from a switch and caused the car trucks to divide. He did it, he said "just to see the cars pile up."

The boy is under arrest.

Chicago — A farmer boy, William Chatterton, 15 years old, was arrested on the scene Thursday at midnight and confessed that he had wrecked the Golden State limited on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway at Fairport, Ia., according to railroad officials here. He declared that two men had plotted with him to wreck the train. No one was injured, according to railroad reports, and only three cars left the rails although the train was running 45 miles an hour.

The train was stopped within one train length and the passengers received a severe shaking up when the three pullmans left the rails.

A rail had been loosened by removal of a bolt near a switchpoint, resulting in the opening of the switch as the heavy train roared westward.

Hartford, Conn.—A new world's record, 6,900 miles, in long distance amateur radio communication, breaking the record made on May 22 of 6,400 miles, was announced by the American Radio Relay league at its headquarters here Friday.

The new record of 6,900 miles in recent trans-Pacific tests was made by W. E. Magner of San Pedro, Calif., who was in Q's communication with Frank D. Bell of Waikanae, N. Z., an hour later. K. L. Reidman of Long Beach, Calif., exchanged messages with Bell but the record is credited to Magner, who will receive an Australian boomerang as a prize. Reidman will be given a pair of green suspenders.

Despite Barring of Electors
from Ballot

By Associated Press

San Francisco—Outstanding in the developments of the situation caused by the refusal of the California Supreme court to allow the names of the 13 LaFollette electors to be placed upon the ballot in November, is the announcement made by Senator LaFollette in Washington that he will tour the State of California because "the will of the people has been thwarted by one man." Senator LaFollette is expected to come to California in October.

Frank Havenner, manager of the LaFollette campaign in California, filed Thursday in behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler committee a petition for a rehearing in the California Supreme court based on seven objections to its ruling by the committee.

Havenner also filed in the county clerk's office in six counties nominating petitions to place the LaFollette electors on the state ballot in November. This was done Thursday in case the supreme court would change its decision after reviewing the petition for a rehearing. Thursday was the last day under the California law on which the petitions could be filed.

An arrangement was perfected Thursday whereby the Socialist electors on the California general election ballots will support his candidacy.

COOLIDGE BACKS
CONSTITUTION IN
SPEECH AT FETEPresident Assails Government
Ownership of Railways
at Philadelphia

By Associated Press

Philadelphia, Pa.—President Coolidge commemorated the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Carpenter's Co., shifted Friday to historic Valley Forge where the encampment of Washington's army will be reenacted by the veteran Company H, First Pennsylvania Militia, composed of many distinguished physicians, bankers, teachers and businessmen.

The forenoon was devoted to a sightseeing tour of the Valley Forge Memorial park. During the afternoon commemorative exercises will be held at the Waterman monument in front of the Washington memorial chapel.

A review and retreat will conclude the celebration after which Mayor Kendrick will present the visiting command with a flag similar to the original 13-starred flag used by Washington at his Valley Forge headquarters.

These encroachments, the president said, are found today in proposals for government ownership of railroads and for limitation of the powers of the supreme court.

The president drew vigorous applause when he warned that "if we wish to maintain what our fathers here established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts."

Mr. Coolidge drove through lanes of cheering citizens to and from the ball where he spoke. The vast, however, was brief, the president arriving shortly before the hour set for him to speak and returning to the train immediately upon conclusion of the exercises at the academy of music.

Reviewing at some length the early history of the nation, the president declared in connection with the meetings of the First Continental Congress that "if we could better understand what they said and did to establish what free institutions we should be less likely to be misled by the misrepresentations and arguments of the hour."

Assailing the suggestion for government ownership of railroads as uneconomic, Mr. Coolidge declared that "in a republic like ours the people are the government and if they cannot secure perfection in their own economic life it is altogether improbable that the government can secure it for them." Such ownership, he asserted, would result in an increase in the taxes paid by farmers of from 3 to 40 per cent.

On the question of curtailing the power of the courts, the president warned that unless the "integrity of the courts" can be maintained as a guarantee of the protection of the individual's rights "any kind of tyranny may follow."

Whaleback Freighter Missing

Hydroplane Joins Search for Bodies of 28 Men or Signs of Wreckage

By Associated Press

Cleveland, O.—A hydroplane, tug and beach patrols Friday were added to the agencies being employed to find some trace of the whaleback freighter, Clifton, now definitely believed to have foundered with her crew of 28 officers and men in the gale which swept Lake Huron Sunday night. "We have abandoned virtually all hope for the safety of the Clifton and her crew," A. E. R. Schneider, general manager of the Progress Steamship Co., Cleveland, owners, said. Schneider added, however, that officials of his company as well as marine men were unable to understand why, if the Clifton did founder, no wreckage or other evidences of the tragedy had been tossed up on the shores or floated to the surface of the lake. In an effort to find some trace of the Clifton, the owners were ranging through the Glenn L. Martin Co., here to dispatch a hydroplane from Detroit to fly over Lake Huron and its shore lines.

The company Friday morning engaged two tugs owned by the Reid Wrecking Co., of Port Huron, Mich., to make a careful search of the inlets and bays along the Canadian shore of Lake Huron.

Men were also to be sent out from various points along the Michigan shore to search the beaches to search for the bodies or wreckage.

The Clifton cleared Sturgeon Bay for Detroit last Sunday with 3,000 tons of stone on board. She was last seen Sunday morning passing through the Straits of Mackinaw.

Sturgeon Bay—No word had been received up to 10 o'clock Friday by the Smith Steamship Co. here which is part of the missing whaleback freighter, Clifton, and Leathersmith, head of the company, expressed the belief that the boat rammed on the rocks on the Canadian shore, southeast of Mackinac, when it was battling with the terrific gale which swept that region on Sunday.

Mr. Smith stated that the boat was in perfect condition when it left here. He also stated that two weeks ago it was inspected by government steamship inspectors and pronounced to be in first class condition.

CALIFORNIA KNOCK REALLY IS BOOST, BOB'S AIDES SAY

Western Supreme Court's Decision Will Help LaFollette's Campaign

The decision of the state Supreme court of California in refusing to permit the name of Independent presidential electors to be placed on the ballots was denounced by members of the LaFollette-Wheeler club of Outagamie-co which met in Trades and Labor hall Thursday evening.

Congressman George J. Schneider declared that instead of killing LaFollette's chances of carrying California, the supreme court decision will help the campaign. The decision, it was declared, takes the wind out of the sails of Coolidge and Dawes who have criticized the Wisconsin senator's stand on supreme courts. Three justices declared in favor of the Independent electors and four against. The deciding vote of one man can not override the will of the people as expressed in the 700,000 signatures attached to the petition, it was said. LaFollette supporters will vote for the Socialist electors who have been pledged to cast their ballots for LaFollette.

At Thursday's meeting 50 solicitors received books were distributed among members who will engage in a house to house canvass in every ward of the city. Two hundred receipt books were circulated in the county. The leaders are confident that Progressives will be willing to contribute one day's wages to the campaign. About $500 was contributed within the last few days it was reported. Bronze medals showing LaFollette and Wheeler in bas relief are given to contributors.

SHOEMEN PICK GREEN BAY AS 1925 CONVENTION CITY

J. O. Langenberg attended a meeting of officers and directors of the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers association in Green Bay Thursday noon at the Hotel Northland. The principle business was the choice of the convention city for next year, and it was decided to hold the gathering in Green Bay the second Tuesday and Wednesday of August, 1925. No shoes will be displayed during the convention period, and this will be a ruling for an indefinite period.

"The Sea Hawk" is said to be one of the most elaborate productions ever shown in this city.

JANITOR CHARGES OFFICIALS AGREED TO ZONE EVASION

Fred Eggert Tells Judge He Had Private Agreement with City Officials

The first case in connection with the enforcement of the zoning ordinance was brought into municipal court Friday morning with the arrest and arraignment of Fred Eggert, a janitor at Lawrence college, who is accused of building a private garage at his home near Lawest bridge without first securing a building permit.

The case was adjourned by Judge A. M. Spencer following the statement of Eggert that he had made an agreement with city officials which should condone the irregularity. The property on which he lives, owned by Lawrence college, was damaged by the filling in that was necessary at the approach to the new Lawest bridge. Eggert said that the city had agreed to make good the damage by raising his buildings to the grade of the street and also to build a garage for him. Unwilling to wait for the city to act, Eggert undertook to build a garage without, however, obtaining a building permit.

George E. Peotter, building inspector, agreed to an adjournment of the case to permit the defendant to furnish proof that an agreement, whether verbal or written, had been entered into.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF GOVERNMENT

Taking it all in all, we are inclined to think that extravagance and the misuse of public funds is the besetting sin of American government. Mr. La Follette thinks the greatest evil of American government is its control by the so-called interests, and the contribution of politics to monopoly. The two are, without doubt, intertwined. There is a certain percentage of truth in what Mr. La Follette holds, but not 100 per cent. The reformers exaggerate the extent of these evils.

Take Wisconsin for instance. This state has been in the political control of the La Follette organization for many years. A great deal of constructive and remedial legislation has been passed during this period. Wisconsin is pointed to as a state where advanced ideas in government are applied, and where their benefits have been demonstrated. This is in the main in accordance with the facts. Most of our reform laws have been beneficial and the chief credit for them is undoubtedly due to Mr. La Follette and those who have worked with him.

But they are not satisfied with their work. They contend that Wisconsin is still a state in which privilege exists and where the special interests are the successful enemies of the people in political and governmental affairs. This is the campaign talk. They are out to punish industry and capital in this state, where they have been in power twenty years or more. If there is anything fundamentally wrong with state administration, whose fault is it, since they themselves have held the power?

Now, the truth is, if we are honest with ourselves, that extravagance and waste of public moneys is the greatest single evil in the state of Wisconsin. The Progressives are no different than any other party when it comes to making spoils of politics. They have raised and spent money with a lavish hand. They have built up the most extensive organization of officeholders in the history of the state, and a large part of it is without any justification or need. The cost of administrative government in Wisconsin in the last ten years has more than doubled. From 1910 to 1920 it increased more than $10,000,000. We have an excessive surplus of state funds, which can represent nothing but excessive taxation.

The National Industrial Conference board, which is constantly engaged in the study of taxation, finds that the taxes raised in 1923 in the United States totaled $7,716,000,000. This was an increase of over $755,000,000 over 1922 and an increase of $5,523,000,000 over 1923. Federal taxes amounted to $3,228,000,000 in 1923, $2,802,000,000 in 1922. City governments raised by taxation $882,000,000 in 1923, as compared with $859,000,000 in 1922. All other governmental units raised $3,604,000,000 in 1923 in comparison with $3,304,000,000 in 1922. In 1923 the ratio of taxes to national income was 41.6 per cent. The ratio for 1913 was 6.5 per cent.

What is the cause of this tremendous increase in public expenditures? During the last decade the population has increased at the outside not over 10 per cent, yet taxes have more than doubled, and in some cases trebled. A large portion of the increase has been in state administration. We know that in Wisconsin it has gone up by leaps and bounds. We know it has not all gone into roads or into other public improvements. Millions upon millions of dollars in this state, and hundreds upon hundreds of millions of dollars in the country at large, have gone into the pockets of politicians, and nowhere else.

The huge sums now raised by taxation have paid tribute to waste, extravagance, inefficiency, incompetency and graft. Not that we have no honest or efficient government, because we have both. But even where there is honesty there is waste and where there is efficiency there still remains numerous perquisites as the cost of politics. The burden of this taxation and of this spending has fallen on rich and poor. In the last analysis most of it falls upon the ultimate consumer, and that is where it will remain in spite of all the attempts that may be made to shift it to wealth and make it stick there. It has produced discontent, distrust and dissatisfaction, and they in turn have helped to make the demagogue popular with the masses and to encourage wild proposals for "reforming" government and unsound theories affecting even the form of government itself. It has made the people to a large extent willing prey of self-seeking politicians who, when they are put in office, go on with this extravagance and mismanagement of public funds.

We are not here discussing remedies, but endeavoring to point out conditions. How to check this waste and bring government back to an ordered and economical financial basis is a serious problem. It is more serious than nine-tenths of the evils that are pictured to the voters by office-seeking politicians.

DO YOU KNOW ILLINOIS?

The Chicago Tribune the other day published an editorial headed "Do You Know Illinois?" After reading it we should say that we do and we don't. We did not, for instance, know that Illinois apples outrank all others. We thought that honor belonged to Michigan or New York, or was it Oregon? We did not know much about its cotton or its peanuts. Nor did we know that within 150 miles of Chicago is the greatest electric power pool in the world. We thought that was located in Wall street. We confess a great deal of ignorance about Illinois in the things the Tribune enumerates.

There are, however, some things about Illinois we know of that the Tribune does not mention. When we go out of our good state we do not hear much talk about Wisconsin being the greatest dairy state in the Union, about its unexcelled roads, about its unusually fertile soil and varied crops, about the financial stability of its people, and many other assets that rank it high in a material way. What we hear mostly about when we go out of Wisconsin is its politics, and that, though it may not be of the best, is the least important thing we have.

It may not therefore be unfair to refer to a few of the things we know about Illinois that advertise it conspicuously, quite as conspicuously, in fact, as Wisconsin politics. We will commence with Senator Lorimer. He is gone but not forgotten. We recall William Hale Thompson, a mayor of Chicago who achieved considerable notoriety during the war. We would include Governor Len Small and his celebrated Grant Park Bank, and a certain trial at Waukegan. We would bring to mind the Herrin massacre and all that has occurred in Williamson county to occupy the attention of the state militia. We would specify the new-thought justice of that great state as exemplified in the Loeb-Leopold case. Just now a spectacular incident down in Ina county is thrilling the souls and intellects of the good people of Illinois, and lastly there is Chicago boasting of its murder a day and three killings by automobiles every twenty-four hours.

Yes, there are other things in Illinois besides cotton, peanuts and apples. On the whole we think Wisconsin in spite of its politics will compare rather favorably with our neighbor to the South. It will be a decidedly good thing if, as the Tribune suggests, the "Illinoisian knows his state better." Perhaps if he does it will lead to some timely introspection.

Indications are that jazz music was going so fast it will be some years before the stuff can be stopped.

PARAGENSIA

A great many correspondents have asked whether I can give a good remedy for halitosis—and for fear I may not have noticed the ads they thoughtfully explain in parentheses that halitosis means foul breath. Paragensia hasn't appeared in the magazines yet, so I may, without presuming upon your intelligence, explain that it means bad taste. An enormous number of glib folk have the nostrum they're taking to thank for that disagreeable taste they notice of some time nearly every day. A long list of drugs, some of which are so cheap that nostrum makers can't resist putting them into the concoctions, are eliminated through the saliva more or less and so cause an unpleasant taste.

Certain foods contain substances which are eliminated through the salivary glands also and many give rise to foul taste. Garlic, onions, leeks and shallots are notorious for this.

Among the common causes of paragensia are septic infections of the accessory sinuses, gumbol, mouth breathing at night, furred tongue, the smoking habit, decayed teeth, septic stumps under poorly made dentures, and the retention of food particles under bridges or other unhygienic dentures.

Less frequent causes of bad taste are inflammation of the lining of the mouth, epithelioma (cancer) of the tongue or throat, trismus (trismus), or white or tongue, bronchiectasis (dilated bronchial tube) and some cases of lung tuberculosis with cavity.

It is obvious that relief for paragensia is to be sought from treatment of the particular condition responsible. Mouth washes or other local remedies can have only momentary effect, as a general rule.

When the cause is purely local the use of a mouthwash is worth while. It is not particularly important whether this should be antiseptic. The mouthwash simply serves to remove foul material, a mechanical cleansing. Even if the purpose were to diminish the multiplication of germs, and antiseptic mouthwash would do little good because it is necessary that an antiseptic be in contact with the germs for a considerably longer period than one ordinarily retains a mouthwash.

About a teaspoonful of peroxide in an inch of water, in a glass makes a good mouthwash, for use four or five times a day.

Equal parts of glycerin, lemon juice and water, used pure or reduced with more water, two or three times a day will clear fur or coating from the tongue and leave a refreshed, clean taste in the mouth.

If the mouth is sour or acid, a teaspoonful of milk of magnesia may be swallowed around in the mouth a few moments three or four times a day and the excess cleared without further rinsing of the mouth.

Smoker's foul mouth is temporarily overcome by washing the mouth with a solution of one drop of tincture of iodine and one drop of oil of cloves in a small glass of water. Such a mouthwash may serve also when an antiseptic mouthwash is desired, say in inflammation of the lining of the mouth (stomatitis). In stomatitis, as in canker sores, perhaps a solution of boric acid, about a teaspoonful in the pint of boiled water, is the most satisfactory antiseptic mouthwash.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Milk and Milk Substitutes

Is there anything in malted milk to make the bowels more active? Would it be good for a 12 year old and a 3 year old to drink some malted milk every day. We are in the store business, so it would be easy to make them. (Mrs. M. O. P.)

Answer.—No, it would be much better for the children to drink real fresh milk every day, and to depend on fresh vegetables, stewed fruit and whole cereals for provide natural stimulus to the bowel.

Chicken

I have been told that chicken or any fresh meat is poisonous if left tightly covered while hot after cooking until cold. Please give your opinion on the subject. (Mrs. M. E. C.)

Answer.—It isn't. Better leave it covered after cooking, for it retains most of the good flavor and the cover protects it from possible contamination. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 29, 1899

Mrs. C. L. Evans of Seymour was the guest of Mrs. D. A. Kenyon.

City Attorney A. M. Spencer of Appleton and W. L. Root of Medina delivered addresses at Seymour fair.

Mrs. J. F. Johnston, who had been making her home at Duluth for some time, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Johnston. She was one of the first settlers of Appleton.

The only one who had thus far signified his intention of putting down a cement walk on College avenue between Onelda and Morrison streets was Henry Schuettler, owner of the property occupied by Woelz Bros.

There was an unusual demand for wood notwithstanding it was selling at $8 a cord.

The ruins of the Wickett company mill were pretty well cleaned up.

Old residents were scratching their heads and trying to recall a September as cold as the present one.

The early closing movement was spreading and the druggists were the latest business men to adopt it. Commencing Oct. 1 they were to close their places of business at 8:45 except Mondays and Saturdays.

The store of J. C. Ferber was notable above all others in Appleton with respect to the quantity of dolls to the cubic foot of space under counters, in drawers and on shelves.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 25, 1914

Appleton women were quick to adopt the plan suggested by Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of Speaker Champ Clark to relieve the difficulties of southern cotton growers. Miss Clark suggested that every woman spend at least $1 during the winter for cotton goods and many Appleton women agreed to do that.

Jack Waites was badly hurt while working at the Appleton Coated Paper Co. plant when the crank of a hoist got out of his grasp and struck him in the face rendering him unconscious. He was taken to the hospital where it was found that his face was badly lacerated and several teeth were knocked out.

A. G. Meating, superintendent of schools, presented a report to the county clerk which showed an increase of 80 children in the number of children of school age in the county, as compared with the previous year.

Gorman 42 centimeter mortars were battering the long line of French forts from Verdun to Toul and threatened to silence them, reports from Berlin stated.

King Albert of Belgium has again refused to consider an offer from the Kaiser to cease war between Germany and Belgium.

High school and Lawrence football teams were beginning to get into action. Coach Cullin had three teams out for practice.

TO APPLETON

Eastward lies the college town where I was born, And on this September morn my thoughts are all of you.

In memory I see again your arched streets Where elms and maples nodding Greet the wanderer's glad return.

On each incoming train students throng, Some to greet you as a friend they have loved long, Some to gaze on you with strangers' eyes.

But no student coming in could love you As this alien so long gone.

The old college again I see With its gray walls ivy twined, The white walks that now lead up to you

Were "stub-toe" paths in my time: Your white belfry once was used Indian badges to see.

In the early pioneer days, My grandfather once told me,

From my window I see the broad prairie, And the shepherders tending their flocks.

But to my mind they cannot compare With the beautiful town on the Fox.

And I know some day when dreams come true, Though we travel the whole creation, Our western children will come to you

For their education, And then upon your arched streets, Where maples and elms nodding meet,

So the East and West will greet When we bring them home.

All the world's a stage and there are but few of us who don't make a show of ourselves some time.

SOCIAL ITEM

(Too late to classify.)

The N. S. Twelve club is receiving many applications for membership since announcement of a Leap Year party. Applications were tipped off that a large number of men too bashful to propose will look in on the party and take their choice of the eligibles.

Appleton coal dealers take great encouragement from the Republican presidential campaign slogan, "Keep cool with Coolidge."

That slogan is not very convincing to most Badgers, for they have been kept a good deal that way since the approach of cold weather in the fall of 1923.

FAMOUS SAYINGS OF FAMOUS PEOPLE

Governor of North Carolina to Governor of South Carolina: It's been a wet what.

Business in 1925 will be what you and other men make it—all campaign predictions to the contrary notwithstanding.

ROLLO.

World's News
Told In Brief,
Simple Style

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur "broke even" with President Coolidge in their argument over the importance of a strong navy to America.

It looks as if he did, anyhow. At the same time the government's budget bureau in Washington, backed by the president, was cutting down the fleet's next year's money allowance.

Suddenly Wilbur was called back to Washington. The president wanted to see him. Gossip said the president didn't like to have the secretary hollering for money right while he was trying to economize.

GOING TO INVESTIGATE

But after the two had had their talk, it was announced Wilbur was picking out a committee of experts to decide what the navy needs most of—battleships or aeroplanes.

This means a victory for Wilbur, if real experts make a real investigation, for everybody knows what naval experts think about it.

The president, converted by the round-the-world flight, is said to favor aeroplanes. Navy men, while admitting aeroplanes' importance, as the battleships' "eyes," argue that eyes are all to the good for seeing an enemy, but not as serviceable as fists to stop him, when he comes at you.

"SHOWING" THE PRESIDENT

Secretary Wilbur is one of the navy men. In other words he disagrees with the president. The investigation doubtless means that the secretary has got to "show" the president, but it also means that he's going to have a chance to "show" him—the president isn't going to turn him down "cold," without a chance to argue that the battleship's day isn't past yet, or that aeroplanes can't do everything. The secretary evidently stood very pat and impressed the president.

AMERICA'S MONEY

E. N. Hurley of the board appointed to figure out ways of collecting the war debts owed by European countries to America, is back from Paris with a scheme for getting back the billions due to the United States from France.

It's a good scheme unquestionably, but the French refuse even to discuss it until guaranteed every cent of what they claim from Germany. Before Germany can pay it, America will have to lend most of it to her.

ARBITRATION

Fifty-four countries' delegates at Geneva have been planning compulsory arbitration of international disputes. That is if two countries disagree, they mustn't fight—they MUST arbitrate.

A dozen of the most important countries—called the "Big Twelve"—have about decided on a program. They propose another Geneva meeting June 15, next year, to get together on it.

INTERVENTION

The war in China threatens to drag along for months. A few foreign commercial concerns with interests there are beginning to worry. The war interferes with their business. Western diplomats already have told the Chinese they can't afford to have the railroads tied up.

The Japanese, particularly, are talking about intervention. This is the principal danger in China—that interested outsiders will haul their various countries into China's troubles.

Roman politicians before election time used to bathe with the people in public bath-houses.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

A CLOSEUP OF A PIRATE

Many readers do not appreciate how much good fun there is in the books of Daniel Defoe that he wrote before or after "Robinson Crusoe" appeared on the scene and monopolized the spotlight. Every time I read another Defoe book I am astonished anew at his versatility. His books would still be good for a big reputation in English literature every if "Robinson Crusoe" had never been written.

Who but Daniel Defoe would have hit on the idea of telling the life story of a pirate in the days when piracy still made the ocean lanes unsafe and when walking the plank was not merely a romantic idea from old books as it is today but something that might easily happen to anyone who ventured out upon the ocean? Or if some one had hit on the idea, who, but Daniel Defoe could have carried it off that the very soul of a genuine pirate is presented to the reader? Obviously to create a pirate who shall carry conviction is no small job. Where for instance shall a writer with such a task on his mind get the necessary information that is indispensable to hit such a character off to the life? He can't very well turn pirate for the purpose and the odd little habit that governments of those days had of hanging all pirates that were caught would make that source of information rather a poor one.

SOUNDS LIKE PIRATE

How Defoe got his information will always remain one of the mysteries of literature, but in his novel, "Captain Singleton," he tells us so much about the daily life of a pirate, about his hopes and fears, his thoughts, his seasons of devility and of repentance, that the reader is under the illusion most of the time that there is the real life story of a real pirate. The book is told in the first person, which helps the illusion of autobiography along.

A piece of writing once done always appears easier than it actually was. Defoe's pirate story may seem profound to the casual reader, and as a matter of fact it is not profound; there is hardly a word in it that could have been set down by a half-educated man such as a pirate might be presumed to be. And therein appears Defoe's art. He succeeds in merging his own personality with that of a pirate so effectively that the reader forgets it is the work of Defoe and is under the illusion that he is reading the autobiography of a bona fide pirate.

TRY TO PLOT IT

To get an idea of the difficulty of the task, try to jot down a half a dozen or a dozen incidents that you should set out to write the autobiography of an imaginary pirate. It would strain the inventive ability of almost anybody nearly to the breaking point to find that many incidents for a pirate's life. Not merely fantastic incidents that could not plausibly happen to a pirate or to anyone else, but incidents so pat and natural that the reader feels they must have happened to pirates again and again. Yet Defoe manages to describe a half a dozen or more of them in a single chapter. He piles incident on incident in such profusion that the sense of a busy life of crime is inescapable even by the most unimaginative reader.

The theory that almost all fiction is autobiography in one form or another breaks in the presence of most of the books of Daniel Defoe. He lived many kinds of lives and he knew the shady side of life at first hand. He lived in prison and out of it, he engaged in a half dozen different occupations, he had first-hand acquaintance with thieves and lords and court officials and prostitutes, but it would have been impossible for him to have lived all the lives of the characters he described so intimately that actual experience could hardly have improved upon it.

In the end of "Captain Singleton" the pirate of the story repents and lives a decent life after changing his name. That was necessary by the cant of the times. It is clear that Defoe's heart was not in it. Had he lived in the more honest times of today he would doubtless have followed Captain Singleton to the gallows that he so richly deserved.

Q. What American soldier executed the etching of the resting place of France's Nameless Hero which has lately been purchased by the Luxembourg Museum? A. B.

A. This striking etching of the Arc de Triomphe in Paris with the figure of a solitary woman bowed over the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier, is the work of A. C. Webb of Nashville, Tennessee, a former A. E. F. second lieutenant. Its purchase by the Museo de Luxembourg, Paris, was an unusual distinction to be accorded a foreign artist.

Q. Is the cotton boll weevil a menace of comparatively recent times? S. S. H.

A. It was originally Mexican having been found around Monclova, State of Coahuila, Mexico, where as early as 1856 to 1862 it did such damage to cotton that growing there was abandoned. In 1886, the boll weevil crossed the Texas border into the United States. It encroached steadily from year to year until in 1922 it infested practically the entire cotton growing region of the United States. The only extensive uninfested territory lies in West and Northwest Texas.

We Ask Men

To protect their hair
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I speak for all women when I say that we want men to keep their locks. And above all, their hair.

The women do that. You would never forgive us if we did not. We beg you to follow our example.

My whole career on the stage has depended largely on my hair. So many years ago I went to France and secured the best hair and curls she knew. And I have kept up with every new discovery.

The result is my hair as you see it. It is thick and lustrous, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff and never a touch of gray. Now countless women who use what I use are attaining like results.

I am offering to women the best I have found, and men are also welcome. My Hair Youth combines the utmost that modern science knows. I am sure that no one knows anything for the hair which does what this combination does.

I apply it with an eye-dropper directly to the scalp. Applying tonics to the hair is ridiculous. The whole thing lies in the scalp, in the roots, and there my Hair Youth goes.

It combats the hardened oil and dandruff which sifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates scalp.

Hair thrives on such a scalp as flowsers thrive by like methods. I believe that my Hair Youth now combines the greatest hair helps in existence. I have never seen anything else which brought comparable results.

Now I have placed it in every drug store, on every toilet counter. All who desire may obtain it. The name is Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth. It will amaze and delight you. I authorize every dealer to return the price to anyone who claims the slightest disappointment.

Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send it with something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 526 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

PANTS MAKE GOOD ROPE FOR PULLING AUTOMOBILE

Even pants, about the most prosaic of men's garments, are susceptible to high-pressure advertising if the right kind of energy is put into the business of thinking about it. Salesmen for the Sweet-Orr and Co., Inc. of New York demonstrated that in Appleton Friday when three pairs of pants, tied together, were used as tow-rope for pulling an automobile around town. The pants stood the strain, according to the salesmen.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestine.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive. adv.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP
STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling-reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh, and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Voigt's Drug Store dispenses it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere. Always remember when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Every rheumatic sufferer ought to send today for free book, "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" (just out). Address H. P. Clearwater, box 899, Hallowell, Maine, adv.

NEBRASKANS WILL VISIT EIGHT FARMS DURING STAY HERE

All Day Sightseeing Tour Is Planned, with Dinner at Grange Hall

Eight farms and one cheese factory will be visited by the 150 prominent Nebraska farmers who will arrive here on Sept. 29, on a special train.

The train is scheduled to arrive here at 8 o'clock in the morning and a group of automobiles will meet them at the depot to take them on the sightseeing trip. Farmers will furnish part of the cars and the chamber of commerce asks Appleton people to furnish 15.

Leaving here at 8 o'clock, the motorcade will proceed east to Kaukauna on the south side of Fox river, giving a glimpse of its scenery, and the guests then will be taken through a papermill. They will return on the north side and go via highway 15 to various farms.

Visiting of farms is to begin at 9:15. The first will be that of Fred Behnke, who has a Holstein herd. Others then scheduled are the Holstein farms of Fred Kaphinset, and R. J. Schaefer. John Greimert's cheese factory will be inspected at 11:30. Here the farmers will be shown how the milk is handled and the cheese produced. These steps will consume the time

ORGANIZE CENTER A. A. L. ON OCT. 5

Oct. 5 is the date set for formal organization of the Aid Association for Lutherans branch in St. John church, town of Center, according to G. D. Ziesler, president of the association. There are 41 applicants for membership and they are instructed to meet at the parochial schoolhouse at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, which will be Sunday.

Officers will be elected, a meeting place chosen and the date for monthly gatherings set.

Work is progressing rapidly on a branch in the Elington Lutheran church and organization will be accomplished before winter. The association also plans to organize branches at Greenville, Dale and Claxton in the near future.

up to 12:30, when the cars will reach Grange hall; South Greenville. Dinner will be served there by members of the Grange.

Pursuing the tour at 2:30 the Nebraskans will stop at the Fred Bretnick Guernsey farm and the Walter Wickert Holstein farm. It is expected the trip will conclude at 5:30 when the train will leave Appleton.

It is possible that some of the Nebraska men will purchase cattle while they are on the trip. Large numbers of cattle from Wisconsin dairy herds are shipped to the southern farms every year, largely through representatives of the Union Pacific railroad who are helping to promote agricultural prosperity there.

Y. M. C. A. Offers Boys And Men Every Chance To Grow In Body And Mind

Great Opportunity Is Found in Appleton Institution for Recreation, Health and Pleasure. Secretary Says.

"What can I get out of the Y. M. C. A.?"

That question is asked in practically every Y. M. C. A. membership campaign and will no doubt be reiterated many times before the close of the campaign that will be launched Monday night.

In the judgment of George F. Werner, general secretary of the local association, and in the judgment of several hundred members already enrolled, the question might rather be reversed and put this way: "What am I missing by not belonging to the Y. M. C. A.?"

Appraising the service that the Y. M. C. A. offers, Mr. Werner points out to the fourfold development of a man's physical, mental, social and spiritual makeup, in addition to which the institution offers certain advantages along economical lines and gives the applicant universal Y. M. C. A. membership.

GRADUATED FEES
Under the system of graduated fees, some members receive considerably more than they pay for. If the cost of operation were apportioned equally to all members, the average assessment would be about $25 per member. Since memberships can be obtained at as low a rate as $5.50, a deficit is realized on many members. To balance this deficit, large gifts regarded as sustaining memberships are accepted. The deficit also is reduced by the quantity of smaller priced memberships.

Among the reasons listed by the general secretary for joining the Y. M. C. A. is "to build oneself up physically." Of all the branches of the association, the physical department is used most by the members. That is one of the reasons why that department has assumed the responsibility for the present campaign.

Among the number using the privileges of the physical department are 475 men and 285 boys, or a total of 760. Gymnasium classes during the year ending May 1 had an enrollment of 540, or 305 men and 235 boys. Directed exercise forms a healthful routine for members who want to keep fit, and special classes are arranged for men and boys of all divisions for about three days of every week. A swimming period follows every gymnasium class. Absolute safety is assured by the rule that no members are allowed to be in the pool alone. The Appleton gymnasium and pool are considered among the best in the state.

ORGANIZED SPORTS
Other forms of recreation provided by the physical department are organized sports such as handball, volleyball, basketball, horseshoe, pitching, bowling, swimming, aquatic games, indoor and outdoor baseball, camps and hikes. Interest is multiplied by the organization of competitive league tournaments in most of the sports. Basketball last year attracted 120 men and 85 boys in 205 games; volleyball drew 48 players in 69 games; baseball 144 players in 80 games; handball 45 players, tennis 50 players. In addition organized swimming classes sion groups, gospel meetings and promotion of foreign Y. M. C. A. work and in personal interviews. The total attendance at all religious meetings last year was 6,650, or 1,081 men and 5,569 boys.

Economical advantages are offered by such enterprises as a home builders' course, the vocational guidance given boys and the operation of a free employment bureau. Last year the employment secretary provided work for 402 men.

A privilege extended to the holder of a Y. M. C. A. membership card is the fact that this card will admit him to any one of the 9,000 associations in the United States and Canada and 40 foreign countries and give him the same privileges there that are offered at home. The secretary has obtained 300 post card pictures of Y. M. C. A. buildings all over the world and will display these in a show window of the Schleifer Hardware company to illustrate this point.

The institution has a claim on the community because of the civic service it offers. The larger priced memberships help the young men and boys of small incomes to get the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. for a moderate fee.

OPEN TO PUBLIC
But even the non-members are benefited by the institution. The reading and social rooms, the employment bureau, the information bureau, the rest rooms are open to the public without cost. The public also has the use of the tennis courts, the bowling alleys and the billiard rooms at a nominal fee. Rooms of the building are often thrown open to community groups. Last year 109 different groups in 60 organizations used the Y. M. C. A. building or were served by the secretaries 575 times. Rest rooms and road map service also are provided for tourists.

About one-fourth of the total membership of the Y. M. C. A. consists of boys. A fine suite of rooms is assigned to them, and here may be found daily any number of boys from 11 to 18 years enjoying wholesome games, good papers and magazines, the privileges of the Employed Boys Brotherhood, the "Hi-Y" club, or high school students organization, and other boys' clubs.

Special gymnasium and swimming classes are arranged where the boys have careful and systematic physical instruction under the leadership of competent instructors. Hikes, camps, educational trips, father and son banquets, bean feeds, movies, stunt nights, Bible classes, practical talks, are some of the features.

BUILDS UP BOYS
Although healthful competition is encouraged, the plan is to build up the boys physically, mentally, socially and spiritually, and thereby augment the physical and mental instruction of the schools and the religious and social advantages offered by the churches.

For boys two classes of memberships are offered, the younger boys membership for boys of 11 to 14 years at a rate of $5.50 a year, and the older boys' membership for boys of 14 to 18 years at a rate of $7.50 a year.

Next after the boys memberships are the men's memberships for men of 18 to 21 at a rate of $12 a year conveying all the privileges of the association. Other classes of memberships among the men's division are the student membership of $11 for 9 months participation of all the privileges of the association at the same price but restricts the association. The limited membership is of the same price but restricts the holder to all privileges except gymnasium and tennis courts. The full membership classification extends all privileges of the association at a fee of $16 a year, the business men's membership the same privileges at $25 a year, and the sustaining membership at $35 to $500 a year. The latter two classes are unusually purchased by commercial and industrial institutions. All memberships are payable in advance, and a $1 discount on men's memberships is allowed for cash. Men may also pay down $5 and the rest in 30 to 60 days and boys may pay $3 down and the rest in the same time.

"I CONSIDER TANLAC A GODSEND TO ME"

Says Wisconsin Lady, in Telling of Her Recovery.

"For seven or eight years," said Mrs. John Golla, 1234 Gardner-St., Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., "I suffered so much from stomach trouble that life seemed hardly worth living. This stomach misery and nervousness combined kept me awake nights and I got up mornings more tired than on going to bed.

Tanlac must be the grandest medicine in the world and I look upon it as a godsend to me. I now have a wonderful appetite, all signs of indigestion are gone and I can lie down at night and sleep like a child. Before taking Tanlac life was a drudge, but now I have health and strength that make living a pleasure."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

A Reminder

OUR wife means everything to you, Mr. Man, and good dressing means a lot to your wife.

It is as little as you can do, to let her have the becoming things she sets her heart on, isn't it?

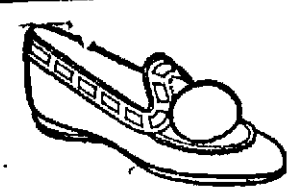

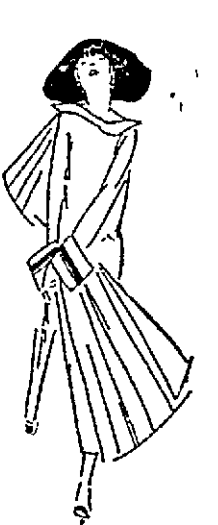

Remember, she is YOUR wife! You would not have her suffer by comparison with other men's wives.

But all men are a bit forgetful. Too busy making a living to think of clothes at all.

In thinking of them now, just remember that the cost of keeping your wife presentable may be much less than you actually imagine. A great deal depends on where she makes her selections.

Official Board Selects Date for Ceremonies at New Methodist Church

The corner stone of the New Methodist Episcopal church will be laid Saturday afternoon, Oct. 18, according to plans made at a dinner and meeting of the official board of the church Wednesday evening. On this occasion the board entertained the newly elected members and their wives. Among other things that were discussed were new plans for more efficient cooperation and good fellowship during the coming year.

During the evening the assemblage sang several familiar songs, with Mrs. L. A. Grigam at the piano. Dr. J. A. Holmes, the pastor, presided over the new members and their wives: Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Benton, Dr. and Mrs. Guy W. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Cast, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fourness, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Kloehn, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rowell, Mr. and Mrs. William Timm and Elmer Root.

It also was suggested that the men of the official board hold a stag party at the church for the men of the church, with the men managing the entire evening. Invitations were authorized to appoint a committee of seven men to plan for the party. These seven men will appoint sub-committees. A tentative date, Oct. 10, was chosen.

APPLETON FAMILY IN STORM DISTRICT

F. G. Wheeler Cottage at Three Lakes Badly Damaged
By High Wind

An Appleton family was caught in the path of the cyclone, which swept through Three Lakes last Sunday, but although their place of shelter was wrecked, the occupants escaped injury.

It was the newly built cottage of F. G. Wheeler, 653 Harriet-st., that was wrecked. The great damage done to the woods about the summer home hindered the family from returning home earlier and prevented two sons from arriving in time for the opening of Lawrence college of which they are students. The Wheelers returned to Appleton Thursday night.

Practically every tree in the grove was uprooted or blown down, blocking the road. One tree fell upon the automobile and crushed the top. Workmen were conveyed across the lake to remove trees and open a way to travel.

The Wheeler cottage was ruined right over the heads of the occupants. The roof was torn off and parts of the sides were demolished. What probably prevented the entire house from collapsing was a large fireplace. Another cottage near by was ruined, and while the cottage of W. O. Thiede, Appleton, was slightly damaged, the John Diederich and Herman Saecker cottages were left intact.

Capt. John H. Knuebel of the United States infantry rifle team won the 200 yard free rifle match with a 91 out of a possible 100.

In the national individual rifle match, which opened today on the 200 and 600 yard slow-fire ranges, with 1,195 contestants, six men were tied for the lead with 97 points and the next eighteen had scores of 96. The match will be continued tomorrow on the 200 and 500 yard rapid fire ranges and concluded Saturday at the 1,000 yard slow-fire stage.

Good Taste in Clothes for City and Country

WITH the advent of September, it's high time that we began thinking about Fall clothes, for the early buyer not only gets the full use of his clothes during the season for which they are purchased, but invariably has a larger selection of fabrics, colors and models from which to choose.

The English vogue of the past season will this Fall again hold the center of the fashion stage. The proper coat is either two or three-button, has wide shoulders, soft-roll lapels, a rather full body, low-set pockets, and widely spaced buttons. Trousers will be worn with or without plaits at the waist and will hang perfectly straight from the knee to cuff. The preferred waistcoat is single breasted with blunted ends or conservatively small points.

The coat of this model has wide shoulders, soft-roll lapels, a rather full body and low-set pockets.

The double-breasted jacket is another assured favorite for this Fall. No well-dressed man's wardrobe will be complete without at least one such model. It can be either a two or three-button garment, but to be absolutely correct it must have a long soft-roll lapel so designed that only two of the jacket buttons fasten. These two should be set low and spaced rather widely.

Blue undoubtedly will be the color leader, although greys are fast finding favor. Everything from standard navy blue to the much overworked powder blue will be worn. One of the best and one of the most popular shades will be crushed blue—a grey-flecked sea tone that is novel, yet not in the least outé. The various shades of tan and brown will, of course, be seen, too. They are always good for Fall wear. An extreme novelty that is already appearing is a lavender shade. It is very subdued, however, and simply gives a rich color tone to the fabric.

Soft Colored Collars to Match Shirts

You remember, of course, the way the colored shirts with stiff collars to match caught the fancy of men who know how to wear clothes! Well, it seems these fellows are being catered to, for we observed scores of men in boxes at the Polo Grounds the other day wearing colored shirts with collars to match—but the collars were soft. Not, as you might imagine, from rooting for McGraw and his Giants, but because the sensible enough to recognize the need of a soft collar in summer.

And speaking of collars—that is, white ones—it is well for a man to know the relationship between the style of collar he wears and the necktie he chooses to go with it. Be careful not to attempt to cover the space in a wide-opening collar with a peanut-knot four-in-hand. Collars which do not come together, close, especially at the apex, are fast passing out of use.

Bow Ties Cannot Be Worn With All Collars

Bow ties should not be worn with a high collar, for when the bow is tied it will either show a space at the top of the collar or show the button below. Club stripes in neckwear are much seen in New York, while foulards seem to have retired during the hot months. The bat wing bow ties, first introduced as a novelty, have taken their place among the conservative necessities in men's neckwear.

An increasing number of men have felt the need of competing sartorially for recognition with those they meet in the business and social world. And now they are forced "to put everything they have on the ball," to copy a baseball phrase. Little things like coat pocket handkerchiefs to match one's shirt, colored hat bands, and good taste in collars and neckties, all make for that much desired "good appearance."

What 500 Wall Street Men Wear

There is one street which everybody in the world knows—Wall street. It is the symbol of Big Business and its men have become symbols of action, success and opulence—perhaps because they know that good clothes are an "investment in good appearance."

An analysis of 500 of the best dressed men in Wall street recently conducted by "Men's Wear," a trade paper, discloses some interesting things connected with men's clothes. One thing seems to stand out, and that is this: Twenty-three per cent of the men wear single-breasted three-button jackets, but one per cent only are willing to wear coats with four buttons. This, of course, applies to the medium placement of buttons. Twenty-eight per cent of every 100 men in Wall street wear blue suits, while those who lean toward a cocoa brown are listed as eighteen per cent. Medium brown, grayish brown and light brown are represented, respectively, by seven per cent, three per cent and two per cent.

Wall street men are rather partial to three-button double-breasted suits, for according to the analysis, sixteen per cent of them wear them. Fifteen per cent of the men wear a two-button single-breasted suit with a medium placement of buttons, while thirteen per cent wear the same type of jacket, but with the low-placement buttons. Eleven per cent of the men wear a two-button double-breasted jacket. So far as colors are concerned, the medium grays are listed at eighteen per cent, Oxford eight per cent, medium brown and light gray, seven per cent, blue gray and grayish brown three per cent, light brown, taupe and ivory each two per cent, Prussian blue and wine color suits are worn by not more than one per cent of the men.

to wash that members of the Home Culture Club, an organization of farm women decided something should be done about it.

A canvass was made of the surrounding farming community. Stock was sold at $10 a share. At first, the project was tried out in confinement with a cooperative creamery, but the business took such a spirit that a separate enterprise became necessary.

After the first year the project was a success. The cooperative laundry, still owned by the farmers' wives, employs 10 girls and three men. It has an average of 477 customers and furnished same-day service at hotels and restaurants in Hudson, Hammond, Ellsworth, Cumberland, New Richmond, Baldwin, Spring Valley and Prescott.

THREE-DAY SERVICE Laundry trucks, operated on a commission basis, gather up the dirty clothes from the farmers' wives each week and bring the garments back within three days, washed and

Girls From Texas Tickle Telegraph Keys Accurately

GIRL COLLEGE STUDENTS, UNDER WATCHFUL EYES OF A PROFESSIONAL, LEARNING TO BE TELEGRAPHERS.

Denton, Tex.—Let Thomas A. Edison, the shade of S. F. B. Morse and the rest of them look to their laurels! Their flying fingers have made history in the past as they played a clicking tune on the telegraph sender, but their records bid fair to be eclipsed as soon as the facile digits of students at the Texas State College for Women assume the proper amount of confidence and accuracy.

For classes in telegraphy have been conducted at the college for the last four years, and many of the students already have attained a high degree of proficiency.

There lurks a subtle charm for women in the profession that mere man can never hope to discover. For in at least one instance a charming graduate of the course found Dan Cupid at the key, and it all ended by her marrying the manager of the office. Rumor has it that the exchange of messages between the two was in code that everyone understands.

Another former student is now manager of the Western Union office in her home town, Farmersville, Tex. Several others have found remunerative places, and are filling their positions competently.

Pink teas, quilting parties and lawn socials lose their charms once a person plays nurse to a telegraph key for awhile, the girls aver. "Why," they declare, "one can hear more gossip in five minutes over the wires than over every back fence to be found in this town!"

Sylvania doctor who does not believe in bathing is no more eccentric than Michael Angelo's father, who in a curious letter still extant, adjured his son by all that is holy never to wash. "If you find it absolutely necessary," he said, "have yourself rubbed down dry, but do not let water touch your skin."

It should be borne in mind, moreover, that abstinence from bathing was not an uncommon feature in Michael Angelo's time. Surrounded as they were with water, even the Venetians failed to use any for washing purposes, except to sponge their faces. Cosmetics were used in large quantities by men as well as women, and it is related that "they soaked their clothes in perfume that scented the air three miles off." Thus, the lack of water in the Venetian toilet was not noticed.

EGYPTIANS LIKED WATER The early Egyptians, on the other hand, were especially lavish in the use of water both for external and internal baths. The Greeks also bathed persistently, after which they anointed themselves with oil.

With the Romans the bath was a form of religion. Later, in the days of Roman decadence, it became a form of debauch, which, together with other excesses, is supposed to have contributed to the empire's ultimate downfall. Doubtless it was the luxurious nature of the Roman bath which led the early Christians to regard it

All of these conflicting views may be supported by historical examples from one age to another. The Penn-with marked disfavor, for in the succeeding Middle Ages bathing was not popular.

Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

With most Oriental peoples the use of water has a religious significance, as in the case of the Mohammedans who would consider it blasphemous to partake of food without first washing their hands. Ceremonial bathing is likewise a feature of the Hebrew religion.

The same wide difference in bathing habits is noted among savage as well as civilized tribes. There is a tribe of Indians in Central America for instance, which is said to bathe ten or twelve times a day. This seems unduly excessive, but perhaps they look upon the rest of the world as unclean and deserving of contempt. Certainly, it would be interesting to hear their views of Eskimos who have never even heard of using water for bathing purposes.

During the World War, American soldiers in Europe were sometimes compelled to go bathless for a period of three months or more, and yet they remained in good health. One soldier, who declares that he was "wet and dirty and lousy most of the time and took his baths six months apart," reached the conclusion that bathing is a pleasure rather than a necessity. "For I was never in better health," he says, "than during this bathing embargo."

Yet another American, once a private in the United States army, tells how when his division was shut out by winter quarters without indoor bathing facilities, he kept in good health by breaking the ice and bathing in a nearby stream. Here, too, he washed his single shift of underwear and uniform two or three times a week, rushing about naked in the cold air of the woods until his clothes were dried by a somewhat distant sun. And, according to his belief, this rigid adherence to cleanliness was the only thing that saved his life in the epidemic which carried off many of his comrades that winter.

Man has a remarkable talent for adapting himself to circumstance or custom. He seems to survive regardless of his habits being frequent or few, cold or hot, as eventually he adjusts himself to the condition. So no arbitrary rule for bathing has even been formulated, except perhaps the advice to be temperate.

WOMEN A BUNDLE OF NERVES

"Everything irritates me,—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent."

This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.

COLLEGE CLASSES
IN ANNUAL BATTLE

Fresh and Sophomores Settle
Their Differences at Sunset Point

Lawrence college classes are settling their differences today—All College day—at Sunset Point, near Kimberly. The outing is under the supervision of Charles Marsh, president of the All-College club.

In the morning there were athletic contests and in the afternoon a baseball game was scheduled between the seniors and faculty members. Class scraps also were to be held in the afternoon. The Sophomores are expected to give up their captive, the freshman president, who "is hoing potatoes" here, to the seniors.

The president of the fresh is Willard Meyer of Oshkosh, who was elected on Wednesday.

Other officers of the freshman class are: Vice president, Beryl Rice of Fond du Lac; secretary, Dorothy Vief of New London; treasurer, Donald Hyde of Appleton; representative to the student senate, Harold Zuelke of Appleton; representative to the forensics board, Page Johnston of Fond du Lac.

"Rushing," the period when newcomers are inspected by the fraternities and sororities before being asked to become members, started at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening and is to end at 9 o'clock next week Friday. All acceptances to invitations must be in by 8 o'clock the following Monday.

ON THE SCREEN

SAN FRANCISCO'S WATERFRONT SCENE OF THRILLING DRAMA "Waterfront Wolves" with Ora Carrow as the star is the featured attraction at the New Bijou today and Saturday. The picture is a colorful melodramatic romance of San Francisco's waterfront, and Chinatown. A story of swift surprises and deeds of daring, both on sea and land make the picture excellent entertainment. Not a dull moment in it, from the first title to the last fade-out the picture is full of action, real human emotion, thrills, love and laughter. Tom Gibson author of such screen successes as "Twin Husbands," "Broadway to a Throne" and "The Other Half" wrote the story, and he considers it his best up to date. Besides Ora Carrow, the cast includes such well-known fan favorites as Jay Morley, Hal Stevens, "Tiny" Sandford, Eddie O'Brien, and many more. The story turns on the stealing of a priceless string of pearls, and the many hands through which they pass, with all the intrigue, and adventure that follows them. The picture was actually made in scenes never before shot by a camera, in San Francisco's Chinatown itself, in the Buddha room of an Oriental home, on a three masted schooner sailing the rolling Pacific, and at the opening of the world famous Golden Gate.

ACTORS ARE FORCED TO STOP
BREATHING

Frank Lloyd, director-producer of "The Sea Hawk," from Raefel Sabastini's colorful adventure novel of that title, which First National Pictures, Inc., is now showing at the Elite Theater, was confronted during the making of the photoplay with a condition where the breath of his actors interfered with the realism of the film.

Mr. Lloyd was filming night scenes aboard the big Moorish sixteenth century galleon off Catalina Island. Temperature off that island can get uncomfortably cold, and on this particular occasion the breath of Milton Sills, who acts the stellar role, that of Sakre-el-Bahr, the Englishman who turns Moslem and sweeps the Spanish vessels off the Mediterranean Sea and Sic board, was as visible as clouds of smoke and seeing one's breath while sailing as near the equator as the Barbary coast and in the summer time would have been a technical error that the spectators would have caught.

Mrs. Sills and Mr. Currier could not get their scenes across without speaking, and every time they uttered a word their breath rose in the air like steam. The scene was a very tense and dramatic one. Mr. Lloyd did not waste time waiting for the temperature to rise several degrees and tried out various devices to keep the actors' breath from registering. Following various experiments by holding their breath and moving their lips silently, the camera stopping every few seconds to permit the men to inhale and exhale several times, the scene was finished.

Life Is Worth While
if old folks are well

To be well, avoid chronic constipation. The laxative for old people is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

It would be of great benefit to elderly people if they realized that all their complaints are aggravated by constipation, as constipation is a form of congestion that affects the brain, nervous and muscular systems.

Headaches develop, aches and pains become worse, and rheumatism more painful. If you keep your intestines free from poisons you will find yourself happier and without those disorders usually associated with advancing age.

It is a mistake for old people to take strong cathartic pills, as they are seldom necessary and their repeated use requires larger and larger doses. Likewise the taking of "candy cathartics" is bad, as many of these contain a coal-tar drug that often causes skin eruptions; and if you have taken salt waters you know how dry and weak you felt afterwards.

The fact is elderly people need only a mild, simple laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is gentle in action and free from gripping, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. Use it awhile and you will soon be able to dispense with medicines of all kinds.

More elderly people use Syrup Pepsin than any other laxative, and Mrs. Wesley Davis, 819 26th St., So. Bellingham, Wash., and Mr. A. R. MacLellan, 1209 Sixth St., N. E., Washington, D. C., believe it has added many healthy years to their lives. Get a bottle at a nearby drug store and try a spoonful the next time you feel constipated, have a headache, biliousness, flatulence, dyspepsia, night cramps, or in any other way feel out of sorts as a result of not having had proper elimination.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not an experiment with old folks, as it has been on the market over 30 years and is today the largest selling laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles being sold annually. Buy it with the understanding that it will do as we state or your money will be promptly refunded.

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 518 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them postpaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

Lakeside 7 Per Cents
Selling Rapidly

Sale of $500,000 Wisconsin Electric Power Co. 7% cumulative preferred shares began September 22 at the Securities Department in the Public Service Building, Milwaukee; at the offices of Wisconsin Gas & Electric Co. in Racine, Kenosha, Waukesha, Watertown, Burlington, Whitewater, South Milwaukee and Cudahy, and at the offices of Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co. in Appleton and Neenah.

The heavy initial demand for the shares of this small but very attractive income investment issue indicates that it will be sold out within thirty to forty days.

The shares cost $100 each, payable all cash or $5 down and $5 a month per share. Buying either way, purchasers get 7% income from every dollar invested, from date of purchase.

Cash dividends of $1.75 per share are paid by checks mailed to shareholders, on January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1, each year.

Original shareholders — those who buy shares direct from the company or its authorized agents—can in case of need have them resold on short notice, at $100 each less $1 a share resale charge, through our Securities Department.

These shares represent preferred share ownership in Lakeside, the most efficient and most widely celebrated large steam-electric power plant in the world, and in other income-producing properties of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Lakeside, operated under a 36-year lease by Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., is the chief present and future source of substantially all of the electric energy used for light, heat and power in the Greater Milwaukee district. Sale of this issue will finance plant additions to be completed this year, increasing Lakeside's capacity from 100,000 to 130,000 kilowatts.

Mail orders for shares will be filled promptly by registered letter. If it is not convenient for you to visit one of our offices, write for a Circular, or telephone and let us send a salesman to explain this investment.

No matter what the occasion, bread forms a good part of every meal. While it may surprise you, nothing you put on your table is as complete in nourishing qualities as good bread—bread such as PURITAN.

Why, PURITAN contains the carbohydrates, the proteins, the calcium, iron and phosphorus that proper health demands, and in surprisingly large amounts. It is truly a wonderful food.

But remember, all bread is not alike. Always remember "There's a difference in bread" and choose wisely by selecting PURITAN.

GIANTS ELIMINATE PIRATES FROM PENNANT RACE

New York Nationals Make Clean Sweep Of Series With Pirates

Leaders Could Lose All Three Remaining Games and Give Corsairs Four and Still Hold Advantage.

New York—New York Giants vanquished Pittsburgh for the third successive time Thursday and advanced another step toward their fourth straight pennant on the wreck of Pirate hopes. A crowd of 25,000 saw the fighting Giant clan batter out a 5 to 4 victory and crush beyond recall the last lingering chance of Pittsburgh in the National league race.

PIRATES FIGHT HARD

The Pirates, however, went down with colors flying in the ninth inning when with two out they rallied and pulled to within a run of the champions on Carey's home run drive, which scored Schmidt and Moore ahead of him. But Art Nehf, veteran Giant southpaw, who had out-pitched his portly rival, Wilbur Cooper, and put his team in the lead with a homer in the fifth, checked the belated rally abruptly by striking out "Kiki" Guyler brilliant Pirate outfielder, for the second time.

By making a clean sweep of the series the Giants increased their margin over the Pirates to four and a half games. Since the champions have only three games more to play, they cannot be overhauled by Pittsburgh even if the latter won all its remaining five games. Brooklyn is now the only obstacle in the path of McGraw's fight to hang up a record pennant string for modern baseball history.

ROBINS IDLE THURSDAY

The Robins were idle Thursday, so the champions stretched their margin over Robinson's crew to one and a half games. By winning two out of the remaining three with Philadelphia, McGraw can clinch the flag even if Brooklyn wins its remaining two with Boston.

Pittsburgh Thursday made only six hits off the diminutive southpaw Nehf until the ninth, and they were scattered in as many innings. Their only run in that span came in the fourth when the Giants' makeshift infield defense cracked momentarily and Traynor, singling with two out, scored on successive errors by Lindstrom and Kelly.

Earnhardt baited for Grimm, opened the ninth with a single. He was forced by Schmidt and Cooper popped out, but Moore also singled and then Carey caught one of Nehf's incoherents and lifted it into the upper section of the left field stands.

Frisch, Harris Are Second Base Kings

This is the fifth article of a series, by Billy Evans, nationally famous umpire, comparing individual values of players who may compete in the world series. In this article Evans discusses the second basemen.

HARRIS, WASHINGTON — Bats and throws right handed. Is having one of his best years. Managerial duties have in no way handicapped his play. Remarkable fielder. Not a great hitter but always dangerous. Marvel at making double plays. Handy baserunner. Real star.

WARD, NEW YORK—Bats and throws right handed. Had greatest year of his career in 1923. Has not played up to form this year due to injuries. His absence from game has seriously handicapped the Yankees, brooding up smoothness of infield. Great player when right.

O'DOLKE, DETROIT—Bats and throws right handed. Second base has been Detroit's jinx. O'Dourke joining the club during the last two months of season, only player to perform satisfactorily at that position. Is a veteran of 34 years. Has twice before served in majors. Handy player. The fielder, fair hitter.

FRISCH, NEW YORK—Bats right or left handed, throws right handed. One of the game's greatest players. Stars in every department of the game. One of the fastest men in baseball. Apparently hasn't a weakness at bat or in the field. Outstanding star at his position.

MARANVILLE, PITTSBURG — Bats and throws right handed. Former star shortstop converted into a great second basemen. Is the aggressive type, who seems to do his best work in the crisis. Great fielder, fair hitter, but mighty dangerous in the pinch.

HIGH, BROOKLYN — Bats left and throws right handed. Clever utility infielder who has played infield, short and second with success. Came to majors as third basemen but is doing well at second. Good fielder and average hitter. Having good year at the bat.

RATINGS—Frisch of New York Giants and Harris of Washington have the edge over the rest of the field. Frisch is faster, and a better hitter than Harris, but no more valuable in the field. From a purely playing standpoint Frisch gets the decision. The value of Harris as a manager, however, just about gets him a draw verdict as to all-round value.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID SQUADS GET FIRST SCRIMMAGE DRILLS

Entire Student Body Turns Out for Cheering Practice Friday Afternoon

Scrimmaging is the order of the day for Appleton high school griders from now on. Juies Kevin put his charges through a light sham battle Wednesday afternoon and tried it again Thursday with results entirely satisfactory. Veterans and newcomers alike show the proper pep and willingness, and their aptitude at comprehending new plays promises well for the season.

Kevin has picked a tentative lineup for the opening game at Sheboygan on Oct. 4, but it is probable that he will make several changes in the backfield before then. He plans to turn out for the week end to get a line on these two teams which will be the first opponents of his squad. Sheboygan is scheduled to meet a Milwaukee high school team Saturday while Fond du Lac clashes with Ripon at Fond du Lac. The Sheboyganites last week bowed to a team of alumni in a practice game, but played remarkably well, and Kevin is looking forward to a hard battle.

Friday afternoon the entire student body of Appleton high was to turn out for cheering practice and to watch their champs at work. Cheering sections have been organized among the boys and girls, and that department will be well taken care of this year.

RIPON PROSPECTS BRIGHT DESPITE FIRST FORECASTS

None Lettermen Report for Duty on Grid with Plenty of Good New Material

When Paul Doehling who succeeds Guy Sundt as grid coach at Ripon announced that prospects were only fair this season he was talking for the benefit of prospective players. The benefit of prospective players, it seems. His announcement, however, is not the fact. Although there are nine lettermen back on the squad, only two of them were regulars. More recently, however, he is reported to have said: "But mark this, we're not down in the mouth by any means. Before the season is over we'll have knocked off some good teams that came up here for an easy killing."

John Plichta, halfback, who starred at West Allis high school two years ago, and Robert Rose, center, are the only thoroughly seasoned lettermen on the squad of 45. A. J. McMenon, end, was a third, but he broke his ankle in a practice game last Saturday and will be lost for the remainder of the season.

The gains in the line and backfield are filled up, however, by six other lettermen who played only in part of the games last year, however. At quarter, Doehling has Jimmy Murray, a very promising lad whose only chance last season came in the Carroll game. Harold Stamm, a teammate of Plichta at West Allis two years ago, and Arthur Hauser, tackle; Glennie, a guard, Ralph Christopher, an end, and Melvin Ure, a back, complete the list of 1923 lettermen.

NEW MATERIAL GOOD

To find among the new men an end to fill McDermott's shoes, a fullback to round out the backfield and a guard to flank Rose at center is the biggest problem of Coach Doehling. After 10 days of work, Graves, a promising youngster, shows up exceptionally well at the wing. Olson and Gardner are alternating at fullback and Parson, Graham and Rockwell are filling in at guard.

The new material, as a whole, promises well, according to Doehling. In addition to those mentioned above are Strzyski, a tackle; Fehlandt, a center; Lavallee, a guard; Rasmus, a tackle; Scott, Bruno and Rosenbaum, ends; Barr, a fullback; Uter, Hope and Murchie, halfbacks, and Lynch, a quarterback.

Some of these men are freshmen and will not be eligible for games in the Midwest conference, which strictly enforces the freshman rule. All will be eligible, however, to play in Little Five games.

Ryan Chooses Veterans For First Squad

Madison—Twenty-two contenders for the Wisconsin football team this fall are wearing the coveted cardinal sweater and according to sport followers, these men constitute Coach Jack Ryan's choice for the first squad.

Selections for the squad were made after nearly two weeks of practice and scrimmage sessions for a week. Changes in the squad personnel are likely as the season advances, but the twenty-two men will be Ryan's mainstays for most of the games, it is believed.

Those issued sweaters follow: Capt. Jack Harris, Leo Harmon, Doyle Harmon, Stangel, Larson, Opits, Barnum, Williams and McAndrews, backfield men; Solbrann, Pulaski, and Duran, ends; Sauer, Leith, Kaskela, Sward, tackles; Teckmeyer and Wilke, centers; Bieberstein, Miller, slaughter and Stipeck, guards.

Rickey May Quit As Pilot Of Cardinals

St. Louis Manager Is Thinking Of Devoting His Time to Scouting for New Players.

How important are the managerial duties? Especially when compared with those of the magnate—the man who assembles the players and organizes the club?

Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals is pondering over that question and his decision may be that the man who assembles the players and organizes the club is more important than the manager on the bench.

Anyway, Rickey has hinted that he will resign as manager of the Cardinals during the winter and devote his entire time as discoverer of material with which to develop his National League baseball machine.

REMARKABLE CHARACTER

Rickey is one of the most remarkable characters in baseball. He started as a minor league catcher in the Texas League and his career includes college football coach, college baseball coach, business manager, club president, vice president and manager.

Originally an American League product, Rickey was ousted as manager of the St. Louis Browns following the close of the 1915 season when his club was purchased by the St. Louis Federal interests.

Fielder Jones became the manager during the merger and Rickey, holding an unexpired contract, became business manager.

When the St. Louis Cardinals were purchased by home subscribers in 1917 Rickey was snarled from the American League for his high-up job as president. His manager then was Miller Huggins.

The American League retaliated by snatching Huggins for the New York Yankees and Rickey, without a manager for 1918, signed Jack Hendricks. A third-place club drifted to a tail-end during the Hendricks reign and he was fired.

MANAGER SIX YEARS

Rickey then decided to pilot his own club and he put on the managerial spangles in 1918.

Serving as manager for six years, Rickey has hinted that he may appoint a successor and hereafter devote his time to scouting collegiate fields and the minor leagues.

He realizes that he must rebuild his organization which in 1921 and 1922 gave the Giants stiff competition for the pennant. This year it dropped out of sight early, and has been in the second division all season.

Bill Cherdrel, Eddie Dyer, Johnny Stuart, Jim Bottomley, Clarence Mueller, Ray Blades, Howard Frelgang, Chic Hafey, Roscoe Holm and Flint Rhem are present members of the Cardinals who were found on corner lots by Rickey and developed by his own hands.

JONES AND QUIMET MEET IN TOURNAMENT

Max Marston, National Amateur Defender Defeats Collegiate Champion

Aradmore, Pa.—Two former national title holders, the present amateur king and a former sectional champion, who have long been a contender for national honors, are left in the national amateur golf tournament for the semi-finals Friday.

In the third round Thursday one former amateur champion, the present intercollegiate title holder and two former sectional champions were eliminated.

JONES BEATS KNEPPER

Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., former open champion, Thursday defeated Rudolph E. Knepper, former trans-Mississippi champion, by 6 and 4.

In the semi-finals Friday, Jones will play one of his closest friends, Francis Quimet, former open and amateur champion, who Thursday defeated his fellow Bostonian, also a former amateur champion and a close friend—Jesse P. Guilford. The score was 4 and 3.

Forced to his hardest match of the tournament, Max R. Marston, of Philadelphia, who is defending the national amateur crown, Thursday, defeated the intercollegiate champion, Dexter Cummings of Yale and Chicago. At Marston's request the score was officially recorded as 2 to 1, although Marston actually won by 10 and 8.

Friday Marston will play George von Elm, of Los Angeles, former trans-Mississippi champion, who Thursday, by 7 and 6, eliminated E. H. Driggs Jr., former New York state title holder.

NIMRODS GET CHANCE TO PRACTICE ON SATURDAY

Nimrods of Appleton and the vicinity Saturday afternoon will meet on the grounds of the Appleton Angling and Shooting club to get in a few days of practice at the clay birds in order to be ready for flylover game. The meet will start at 2 P. M. and anyone who wishes to attend will be welcome.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Ira O'Neill, Phoenix negro light heavyweight, knocked out Jack Doran of Los Angeles in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout.

FOX RIVER TEAM MEETS GILBERTS

Gilbert Paper Co. of Neenah Saturday afternoon will try to make it two straight over the Fox River Paper Co. of Appleton at Interlake park, in the final game of the Fox River Second.

Last week the Papermakers dropped their contest, 6 to 4, and they plan to make it even.

"Red" Nelzer, formerly with the Neenah-Menasha club of the Wisconsin State league, will be on the mound for the Gilberts with Grassel at backstop. Last and Kranzsch will work for the Fox River team.

Sunday afternoon the Fox River Firsts will invade Neenah for a much postponed contest with the Lakeside team of that city.

Princeton, N. J.—Jack Coombs, former Philadelphia Athletic pitcher, was named to coach the Tiger pitchers next season.

ELK PINSMASHERS SET UP HIGH MARK IN FRIENDLY GAME

Fries Brothers, Spear and Balliet Roll Average of Better Than 625

After a glimpse at some of the scores rolled during the first two weeks of bowling on the Elks club alleys, it looks as though a bunch of records are due to be broken during the coming pin smashing season. Wednesday evening Frank and Bill Fries, R. Spear and J. H. Balliet, all members of the Elks league, got together for a friendly little game in which anything as low as 200 didn't have a chance.

Frank Fries started out with a 214 in his first game but dropped to 191 in the second. The third netted him 234 pins which was high for the match, but his slump in the second put him third in the totals. R. Spear was high man for the evening with a 614 total. He bowled consistently from start to finish, smashing 211, 230 and 203. Bill Fries trod on his heels through the first and second games with 209 and 222 respectively and beat his mark in the third by eight maps. J. H. Balliet's score would have looked good in any ordinary match but early in the season but was far below his marks. He smashed 190 pins in the first, 201 in the second and 191 in the third game for a total of 582.

High individual score for a single game is held by W. Jacobson thus far, and his 278 promises to stand for some time.

Each week a dollar is awarded the man shooting the highest mark for that period and at the end of the year all those who have won will meet in a sweepstake turney for a $10 prize.

ROD AND REEL

M. J. V. ROSE

FALL LURES

The game fins at this season are on the feed hunt and it's the bait tosser that braves the cold weather and ventures forth that usually brings home a few to grease the family larder. The most prominent and successful lures to use at this time of the year are the light colored varieties as most of the fall days are cloudy and it requires something with a little wiggle or wobble to attract the game fins. For fall bass fishing let the lure be a white bodied one with a red head and of the wobbler type. The greenback, white belled minnow underwater lure also makes a good attraction and is particularly well suited for picking up the wall eyed pike.

The live frog makes a splendid lure for fall and if you want to fill the stringer quickly try to "rump pole stung" recently described in this column, and as a general rule there will be little or no trouble in bringing many of the "he wops" to the boat.

The crawfish at this time of the season makes an excellent small and large mouth bass lure, and if you are lucky enough to find a few of these "come ons" on the shore amongst the rocks there will be something doing in the line of the little bronzeback fighters giving you a tussle at the other end of the casting rod. The crawfish should be played near the bottom, however, to be most effective.

JIMMY NUSS OUTPOINTS SHANNON AT NEGAUNEE

Negaunee, Mich.—In Wednesday night's fights, Jimmy Nuss, Milwaukee, shaded Mickle Shannon, Marquette in 10 rounds; Andy Anderson, Iron Mountain, Mich., knocked out Martin Delaney Ishpeming, Mich., in four rounds; Smokey Tobe, Moran, Mich., defeated Hank King, Rhineclander, in six rounds; Riddo Belmont, Marquette, Mich., beat Kid Kelly, Ishpeming, in four rounds.

St. Joseph Pin Busters Build 8-Team League

Bowlers of St. Joseph church Wednesday evening met in the parish hall and organized a pin-smashing league. Henry Otto was elected president of the league, Sylvester Stingle secretary, and John Weber treasurer.

Last year the league consisted of six teams, but so great was the number of outsiders who wanted to enter after the wheel got started that it was decided to enter at least eight quintets this season.

A committee consisting of Henry Otto, Walter Steenis and John Weber was appointed to draw up a schedule for the coming year. It is expected the league will be ready to start early next week.

MONDT WINS DRAW WITH MAT CHAMP

Los Angeles, Calif.—The mat match between Ed Strangler Lewis, champion heavyweight wrestler and Joe "Tots" Mondt, Colorado cowboy grappler, ended in a draw here Thursday night. Lewis won the first fall of the two-hour limit contest in an hour and ten minutes of wrestling with a headlock, and Mondt took the second in 37 minutes 19 seconds with a jack knife scissors hold. They were still grappling on even terms for the third fall when the time limit expired.

In the preliminaries, Frank Lamarr defeated Pat McGill of Omaha and Dick Daviscur, defeated Ray Steele of Iowa.

WIFE GETS DECREE OF DIVORCE FROM FICKLE HUSBAND

Mrs. Louise Flotow Charges Louis Flotow Went About with Other Women

Mrs. Louise Flotow Wednesday afternoon obtained a divorce from Louis Flotow, former saloonkeeper, upon her counterclaim charging cruel and inhuman treatment and infidelity. The decree was granted in circuit court by Judge Edgar V. Werner.

Mrs. Flotow's complaint specifically dealt with alleged relations of her husband with a "certain divorced woman," who was unnamed. Charges of illicit relations with other women also were directed against her husband.

The suit was commenced by Flotow on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment by his wife, but defendant insisted that the action was started merely to precede her when she was contemplating a similar action. Flotow admitted that he had often been accused of relations with other women. Fear of being poisoned induced him to leave home some time ago, he alleged.

The defendant, however, alleged that her husband had left no marriage vow or obligation unbroken, that he was not only morose and quarrelsome but had persisted in abusing her. He would be gone for several nights at a time without giving an explanation for his absence. On several occasions he was found with other women, she said. She also stated on the basis of information which she had received that he had been traveling about with a "certain divorced woman," and that four weeks before the commencement of the divorce he came home for clothing and said he was going out of town.

When Mrs. Flotow filed her counterclaim, she obtained a temporary award of alimony last August. To her allegation that she had lent her husband $500 he replied that he had paid a part of it back with a $100 liberty bond and had built a garage valued at $200. He was willing to part with the household goods except a phonograph, some paints and a table, which had been loaned by Mrs. Viola Koch.

In the final decree, Mrs. Flotow was given the one-eighth interest owned by her husband in the house at 895 Meade-st., property which had descended from Mr. Flotow's father to the plaintiff and his brothers and sisters. She also was awarded alimony in the sum of $60 a month.

INSTALL 12,000 GALLON TANK TO HOLD FUEL OIL

A huge tank to be used for storage of fuel oil is being submerged in the ravine between St. Joseph hall and St. Joseph school. It has a capacity of 12,000 gallons of oil and will supply the fuel for the two buildings and the new sisters home. The oil burner heating system is installed by J. A. Engel.

GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS WILL ENTERTAIN CLASSES

The theme of the program presented by seventh and eighth grades in their assembly period on Wednesday was "The origin of fire and useful inventions." Dale Clifford was chairman of the committees which will remain in office for several more assemblies. Edward Burr gave a talk on "The origin of the match." Lawrence Ferguson, on "The origin of the stove." Evelyn LeHou, on "The origin of lamps." Anna B. on "The origin of the forge," and Jess Haverson, on "The origin of fire." The hour was brought to a close with a piano selection by Raymond Panter.

Next week, the whole assembly will be asked to volunteer piano selections, or vocal selections or any bit of entertainment which will give pleasure to the rest of the students. This miscellaneous program will be in the hands of the students, and will be entirely free from suggestions from the teachers in charge.
